

Writer: Carol Lee Brunk

Date: April 7, 2014

Title: The Lowest Economic Station State DC

Not all cities are able to have places where you may shower and receive a meal. Housing in every city for homeless and poor has been a scattered miss and hit. Life has a way of working out the tough places in many people's lives. But there are many that have received the help assistance they need or look for to progress themselves and others forward in an upward direction. For those that have not received the push forward HOPE many times takes it place until advancement can be presented and utilized to get them the push they need. When Hope is replaced with a negative attribute or NO attribute at all a stagnate existence of oneself is found for many. Some label it as Hopelessness, Empty or Bottomless pit that cannot be filled or did not get filled in time to avoid the attribute or situation. The question: "What happen?" The BIG picture of more than one incident simultaneously usually happens. It's the domino affect all over. It's many incidents of large and small that put a person in the condition, state, attribute, social and economic status states – along with mental and physical. It's the none, one, two or many combined. Many turn to religious beliefs to the settling of the conscious state expelled upon the ethics and beliefs to others may quest for more knowledge. It's an understanding of an ignorant situation that could or could not be challenged by advanced understanding until investigated, gathered in extensive research – some many years in striving but for others only seconds in a day. All in search of how to place or understand or not understand a domino chain of events that could be or could not be avoided in the future. For others, it's a take a hold of attribute/situation to keep them from the faultier that happens so often to oneself or others – still at times unavoidable.

History repeats that are to be looked at in new directions so that a pathway that has not been achieved or taken is not always thought of. It's the looking for or clique of thinking outside the box. It applies not only to science but everything around us. Economic states that have been utilized and approaches used in businesses today in the United States have adapted from social economic state attributes- social, capital, communistic state attributes depending on company size are applied. It depends upon a variety of the attributes that are applied depending upon type of product or service or both in which companies learn to thrive due to a process of interchange that can enhance or inhibit a company's performance of achievement. It's the mutual exchange of information and practices that provide or inhibit growth. It could be one or the many incidents combined that put a person in a state of lowest economic station state, etc. combined with others that brought about a thought that will or could be a new pathway of thinking outside the box clique- not a right or wrong choice for many. It's the "Does it Apply?" "Does it advance?" "Does it move a directional direction – sideways, backwards or forward?" -the combination of turning. It's the analysis of an accumulation of facts, events and knowledge combined with ignorance that surmises a summary of surmised states- ones new directional pathway many apply to more than oneself and yet not at the same time. Though both may be viewed to be at the same altered state of a hopeless or stagnate state. Not all the answers are in the same directional direction-some dispersed into small sections almost to fragment state that can be built or combined together to put the push and pull together depending one's life situation.

In this case of the lowest of economic stationed states- that presents itself needs are either met as none, partial or full. In DC, SOME (So Others May Eat) and St. Stephens' (Thrive Program) brought about a need needed in many other states a place to shower and a meal on a daily basis. Many states do not provide this service. It is more humane and depletes conflicts with businesses complaints of sponge baths in common place bathroom's that upset owners and the public. It is also more sanitary and keeps the lowest of stations in check with reality along with others of high stations in the United States that can take care of their own needs.

Writer: Carol Lee Brunk

Date: April 7, 2014

Title: The Lowest Economic Station State DC