Philosophy note to others. The philosophy of written papers is being amended due to extensive research and understanding of spiritual scriptures and a spiritual journey taken on by myself. Please look at it as objective as a personal belief of myself that may change in some areas due to not completely done with spiritual doctrines being examined and looked at for a clear understand of myself as in written form of past spiritual doctrines. My philosophy is based on more than one compilation of one scripture and I do not press my beliefs upon others but with great respect I have for others I am sharing a point of view of my understanding- my personal homework. Comments are welcome on the website in view of my philosophy and understanding of God. I welcome people of all ages, but recommend that parents read the philosophy first. If you are a child, please ask your parents to read the philosophy first for discussion. ©2015 web
