

In my philosophy and understanding of God.... But, with respect to others I do not press or impose my religious beliefs upon my friends, families or neighbors. At the same time, I respect and understand religious tolerance with the belief that with religious tolerance, bigotry and prejudice can eventually minimalize with the hope that bigotry and prejudice become obsolete.

A creator of man and earth exist as in Genesis (Bible) and Bevershit (Torah), God creates the world. The Big Bang theory that consist of the many laws of science; relativity, gravity, abstraction, fussion etc. dealing with the basic elements, atoms, helium, nuclear fusion reactions primarily suggest that there is not a higher deity as in a God that made the earth but establishes a scientific theory of all produced by an energy explosion that produces galaxies such as the Milky Way in which we live.

Sometimes the separation of a theory-logical thought needs to be combined for a better understanding after there is an educational understanding for the separation of a theory-logical thought. Meaning understanding the Big Bang (scientific) theory and theology (religious) that includes a higher deity be understood as two separate theories of thought. Then pulling those two theories to include both are in a sense one theory of a theological thought and thought process- separate but combined. So, why separate and keep both apart separate? My theory includes both and both are believable. The humor part is – it sounds like God had a chemistry set and made a very Big Bang. For the most part, the phrase, the potter's wheel was used and applied in the latter future to make the earth. God narrowed down his choices when he made the earth.

In creation of the world, heaven was formed and hell collided with it. Heaven to the soul in having the five senses; to see the beauty in of the vast mountains, grassy terrain, blue skies of an infinite beauty – as in eternity, to touch as in a warm hug, to hear as in a happy laughter of a celebration; to smell the freshness of oven baked bread, to taste the sweetness of candy or even a finely roasted coffee.- then all are combined together whether a human can possess all – but some senses take over to grant and equalize and achieve the full heaven on the earth. The hell on earth is what man causes and natural disasters that happen. Some believe that when it comes to War-the destruction caused by man upon each other also includes not only humans involved that are under attack that include victims, but, victims included the natural earth-.the alterations of appearances not only upon man in physical and psychological but, upon the economic state, the natural environmental state (that include landscapes, atmospheric).

God gave man free will to choose from right and wrong – some refer to black or white yet there is a gray area.-a right or wrong that may not be clearly defined that it could be a little bit of both. With the giving clearly defined that it could be a little bit of both. With the giving of free will, God's freedom to choose was in hopes that man will do the right thing. When people accuse God or ask God why he let something bad happen and blame God for a misdeed by another human or humans on earth one should consider the phrase, "God did not do that to you. God is a merciful God. What did that to you was people. People with free will that did the wrong thing." Along, the lines of war, there is a saying that religious people cause wars. Religious people do not cause wars in my opinion. Its religious people that use religion as a weapon that causes war. For whatever reason if it maybe personally provoked by a past situation or an excuse or wavering belief to conquer a world for a personal alternative motive, not always revealing to themselves or others- looking for the best way for humans to live while obtaining power of control for one-self and a few followers. It is a refine undefined separation for some to be aware of, to act on and understand. At times when an understanding had been obtained it is of a lateness to save those who have died. A sorrow that God looks upon and does not interfere until he hears the cries are too many as in the walk out lead by Moses. Not, all God's interferences come in such a dramatic approach. Others go down in history, the past becomes a present and a future standing as hopeful. Who wins? When God does not present in an effective way as the Hebrew people found freedom, He has chosen heroes in individuals to make a difference of latten. Over the past 50 years in the United States, there are several that make many. Ruby Bridges was one- a small black child becomes a life time hero to many in the segregation between the blacks and whites. A forever watched human that grows up in a hostile environment. While younger she takes a stand in America as a watched icon for change for the hopeful future – a better day after tomorrow- a hopeful future of equality and peace. Many wars are being fought eternally, externally and in some place both depending upon where you live. In God granting of free will, he finds the hero's and from his cheering stand will guide them to the maximum potential of whatever that maybe or whoever they maybe to change the future.

To those that passed away and someday myself, the body decay's, the soul as contained within our human form eventually finds home in everywhere. To those that passed away and someday myself, I believe that when my body decays, my soul will take on many forms. For what encapsulates the soul is my body. When cremated then returned to the earth with my decay goes parts of my soul. The cremation of my ashes, the remains that contain my soul that when let go upon the winds to scatter- my soul as my body will scatter-parts of me may become nutrients to the growth of the next tree, a fruited plant or particles in a nearby lake. The circle of life described by many so that gift that God gave to me was life. My return to the earth in many facets of decay becomes the particles for new beginnings of life making it possible for my soul to continue to live on in many areas of life. No conscious or consciousness collectively will I be able to tell you so. My life after death is the continuation of life that will grow upon the earth in the future. The beauty is that my soul now in particles will provide life to live on.

The bible speaks of the tale of tongues of many languages that God has upon the earth.

Torah 11:5-7 -The tower of Babel -6) Adonai said, they are a single people all having one language and this is the first thing they do! Now, nothing they plan to do will be unattainable for them. 7) Come, let us descend and confuse their speech, so that one person will not understand another's speech." 8) From the place, Adonai scattered them all over the face of the earth, and they stopped, building the city. 9) He named it Babel, because this was the place when Adonai confused the world's language. It was there that Adonai dispersed (humanity) over all the face of the earth.

The verse both identifiable in both the Bible and Torah, Genesis (bible), Bevershit (Torah) show the example of God with his own blessing give the earth a scattered cultivated multi-cultural societies upon the earth. Not only did God bless each culture and countries with multi-facet languages. He also blessed the world with not only different agricultural terrain as well as with a blessed free will many religious beliefs among man. A dispersment of languages that belief of God in different directional paths though I believe under one deity, the one and only God. A God that gave Man a challenge to understand to work with each other hand in hand despite differences- as in Torah Bevehsit 11:09 9) He named it Babel, because this was the place who Adonai confused the world's language. It was there that Adonai dispersed (humanity) over all the face of the earth. God gave man the options of a selective process to achieve to bring back the Garden of Eden. The garden that was here but what it is missing is the Man in the original form. The Man that was designed by God to live in a purity of a soul without sin in taking another's life away, working toward a world on an understanding of a sinless place that experiences total peace-no war, no life threatening disease, no life threat to each other- a joint world of living together in harmony and an appreciation for one another - the original Garden of Eden.
